

KEA NEWS

Kentucky Education Association | www.kea.org | December 2006 | Volume 43 | Issue 2

'Stop or we'll quote!'

The students in Partrice McCrary's kindergarten class at Cumberland Trace Elementary in Warren County are on duty as the "punctuation police" during a shared reading one morning in November. They're letting McCrary know they have spotted quotation marks in the text. McCrary, a member of WCEA, was named to USA Today's All-USA Teacher Team in October. Her story is on page 5.