REFLECTIONS

Analyze the experiences of the day and respond to the following questions:
(add additional pages, as deemed appropriate)

1. What success occurred today? (What worked, and how did it contribute to student success?)

There were many successes during this lesson. The examples I provided really helped the students learn the information. The exercises got the students physically involved in the lesson. Multiple learning methods were covered: visual, tactile, audio, etc. The students had fun and so did I, but at the same time we both learned many things.

2. What could be improved? Why didn't the strategy or method work, and what suggestions can be made for improvement?

I have a couple of students who need to get more involved in the class. One of them is really hard to reach, so I still need to find a way to reach him.

To conclude: Knowing my students and the material I'm going to teach them helps tremendously in the process of teaching. This was one of my best lessons to date. The student who is hard to reach loves the Wayan brothers, so maybe I can incorporate something involving them in another lesson to reach him.
